“Understanding the Archaeology of the Adirondacks”

Thursday, September 13, 2018

8:00 P. M.

Hadley-Luzerne Public Library
19 Main St., Lake Luzerne, N.Y.

Our guest speaker will be archaeologist/author David Starbuck of Chestertown. Mr. Starbuck is a noted authority on the archaeology of the Adirondacks. In the early 1990's, he explored war sites of two of North America's coveted pre-revolutionary forts: Fort William Henry and Fort George, and he has not stopped exploring since. Mr. Starbuck will share excerpts from his latest book Archaeology of the Adirondacks and discuss findings from his most recent Adirondack excavations.

The program is free, open to the public and handicapped accessible. For further information please email kinnearmuseum@gmail.com
